Please note that when we link your eBay account with PACK & SEND, we do not get your eBay orders into the PowerSender portal at the same time. You will need to follow the steps in section 6 (page 18) to import eBay Orders.

5. SPECIFYING POSTAGE COSTS IN YOUR EBAY LISTING

When you list an item on eBay, you need to tell the buyer how much the postage will cost. You enter your postage options and costs for the item you are selling in the Add postage details section of the eBay listing form.

The postage costs you enter are shown in your eBay listing, allowing buyers to work out the total cost to buy your item. Your buyers will be charged the cost you specify when they pay for the item.

Therefore, before listing on eBay, you need to determine your pricing strategy for shipping costs and also to understand how to specify your choice of postage options on your eBay listing. The shipping cost options include:

1. Free Postage offered to all buyers
2. Flat Postage cost charged to all buyers
3. Calculated Postage cost based on buyers location using PACK & SEND's Online Postage Calculator
4. Buyer to contact Seller for postage costs

You may also choose to use a combination of these pricing strategies, depending on the type of item being sold.

Each of the four postage options are described below, with instructions on how to include each option when listing your product on eBay.

5.1 Free Postage

No courier company of course ships goods for free. However, eBay widely promotes the promotional benefit of sellers listing products with 'free postage' as a great way to attract more buyers and get a higher placement in search results.

This means your shipping costs need to be included in the cost of your product. This strategy works well if your eBay store has a limited number of products that you sell, and where the shipping cost is no more than 20% of the product price.

Here's how to offer free postage when listing your product on eBay:

The following screen shot shows the Add postage details section of the eBay listing form and the 4 steps for 'free postage' listing.

The screenshot shows the 'Add postage details' section of the eBay listing form. Four numbered callouts provide instructions:

- 1. Choose from the drop-down menu Flat: same cost to all buyers. (Points to the 'Flat: same cost to all buyers' dropdown menu)
- 2. In the 'service' drop-down menu, choose Courier (1 to 3 business days) (Points to the 'Courier (1 to 3 business days)' dropdown menu)
- 3. Select the Free postage checkbox (Points to the 'Free postage' checkbox)
- 4. In the 'Handling time' drop-down menu, choose the number of days handling time. This is the number of days from the time the buyer pays for the item until the courier collects the parcel from you. (Points to the '2 business days' dropdown menu)

The form fields shown are:

- Domestic postage: Flat: same cost to all buyers
- Services: Calculate postage
- Service: Courier (1 to 3 business days)
- Cost: AU $ 0.00
- Free postage: ☒
- Offer additional service:
- Handling time: 2 business days

The screen shot below shows how the 'free postage' offer will be seen by your buyers after completing your eBay listing (as shown in the red rectangle).

The screenshot shows the 'Postage and payments' section of the eBay listing form. The 'Free postage' offer is highlighted in a red rectangle. The details shown are:

Postage and handling	To	Service	Estimated delivery*
Free postage	Australia	Express Shipping (Courier)	Within 3-5 business days

* Estimated delivery dates include seller's handling time, and will depend on postage service selected and receipt of cleared payment. Delivery times may vary, especially during peak periods.

5.2 Flat Postage cost

Flat rate postage to all buyers does share similar advantages of a free postage strategy – in that customers know exactly what they will be charged and it is relative easy for you to setup. You should consider this approach if all of your products have similar shipping costs.

Here's how to offer flat postage cost to all buyers when listing your product on eBay. The following screen shot shows the Add postage details section of the eBay listing form and the 4 steps for having 'flat postage cost to all buyers' on your eBay listing.

The screenshot shows the 'Add postage details' section of the eBay listing form. Four numbered steps are overlaid on the form:

1. Choose from the drop-down menu Flat: same cost to all buyers.
2. In the 'service' drop-down menu, choose Courier (1 to 3 business days).
3. In the 'cost' field, key in your flat postage rate.
4. In the 'Handling time' drop-down menu, choose the number of days handling time. This is the number of days from the time the buyer pays for the item until the courier collects the parcel from you.

The form fields shown are:

- Domestic postage: Flat: same cost to all buyers (selected)
- Services: Calculate postage (link)
- Service: Courier (1 to 3 business days) (selected)
- Cost: AU $ 18.00
- Free postage: ☐ Free postage (link)
- Offer additional service: (link)
- Handling time: 2 business days (selected)

The screen shot below shows how the 'flat postage' offer will be seen by your customers after completing your eBay listing (as shown in the red rectangle).

The screenshot shows the 'Postage and payments' section of the eBay listing page. A red rectangle highlights the shipping details:

Postage and handling	To	Service	Estimated delivery*
AU $18.00	Australia	Express Shipping (Courier)	Within 3-5 business days

* Estimated delivery dates include seller's handling time, and will depend on postage service selected and receipt of cleared payment. Delivery times may vary, especially during peak periods.

5.3 Calculated Postage cost

A 'Calculated postage' pricing strategy works on the basis of charging your customers a different shipping rate based on the buyers location. In other words, your shipping cost can vary from customer to customer.

This pricing strategy is generally favoured by eBay sellers because for most products the actual courier cost varies depending on the destination. For example, it costs more to deliver a parcel from Sydney to Perth than from Sydney to Melbourne. If you sell products of relative high weight or size and/or your customers buy more than one item at a time, you should probably favour a 'calculated postage' pricing strategy.

To accommodate a variable pricing strategy, PACK & SEND offers an Online Postage Calculator for eBay listings. By using this calculator on your listing, your buyers simply need to enter their delivery postcode or suburb and they will then have displayed the range of parcel delivery price options.

Here's how to include PACK & SEND's Online Postage Calculator when listing your product on eBay.

1. Choose from the drop-down menu Freight: large & bulky items..

ebay
SELL YOUR ITEM 1. TELL US WHAT YOU'RE SELLING 2. CREATE YOUR LISTING 3. REVIEW YOUR LISTING

Create your listing

Add postage details Add or remove options | Get help

* Domestic postage ?

Freight: Large and bulky items

Specify your freight options in your item description

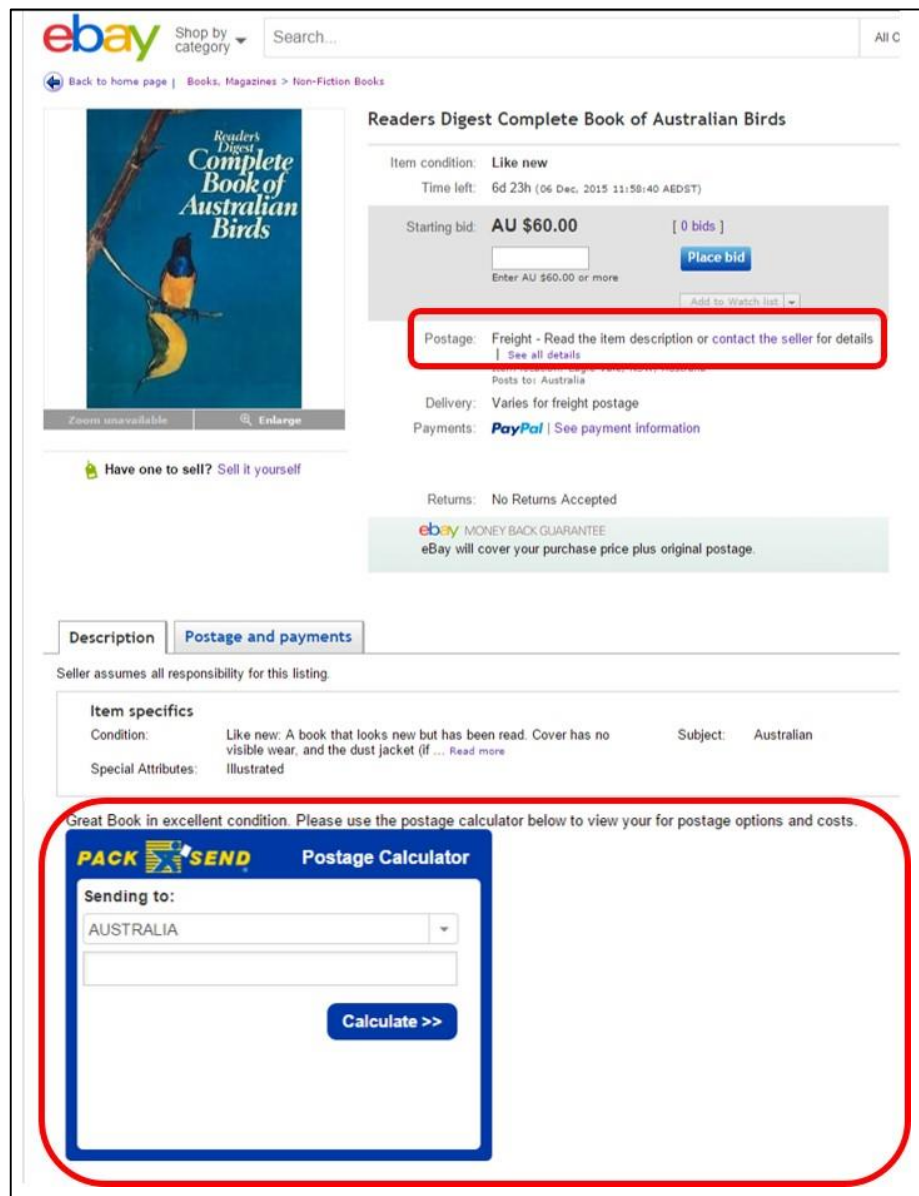

2. The next step is to insert your PACK & SEND Online Postage Calculator in the Description section of the eBay listing form.

To do this, you must first build a calculator for the item you are selling.

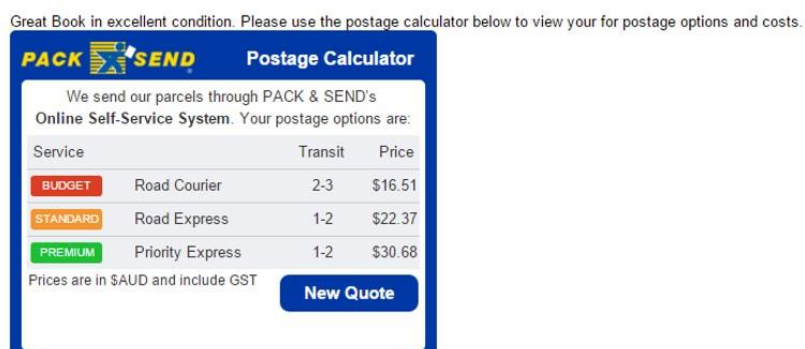

This is very easy to do – and you don't need any developer experience. Simply log-in to PowerSender and select the Tools tab at the top of the PowerSender portal page for instructions to build and insert calculator in your listing.

If you require more help on building your Online Postage Calculator and inserting it into your eBay listing, then you may refer to page 35 of this User Guide for more details.

The screen shot below shows how the Online Postage Calculator will be seen by your buyers after completing your eBay listing (as shown in the red rectangle).

The screen shot below shows how the postage prices will be displayed on your eBay listing once the customer has entered their postcode or suburb delivery location.

5.4 Buyer to contact seller for postage costs

Some eBay sellers prefer that for certain products sold, their buyers contact them for the freight postage costs.

Here's how to offer the option of buyers contacting you for postage costs on your eBay listing.

1. Choose from the drop-down menu Freight: large & bulky items..

2. You can then describe in the Description section of the eBay listing form any details relevant to the customer contacting you for postage costs.

The screen shot below shows how the 'contact the seller for postage details' will be seen by your customers after completing your eBay listing (as shown in the red rectangle).

6. IMPORT EBAY ORDERS TO POWERSENDER

Clicking the green button Get eBay Orders (as shown in the screen shot below) will refresh the orders from eBay into the PowerSender portal. Please note that we only retrieve those orders customers have made a commitment to buy over the last 30 days.

Whenever you click the green button Get eBay Orders, we update the status of your existing orders and add any new orders into your database – as shown in the screenshot below.

In the 'Paid' column a green ☒ symbol indicates that the order has been paid by the customer and a red ☐ indicates the customer is yet to pay for the order. Customers can only pay for their order when they know the postage costs. Therefore, customers can immediately pay for their order if you list your item as offering 'Free postage' or 'Flat Postage costs'.

However, listings that show other postage options (including Online Postage Calculator and 'Buyer to contact seller for postage') require you to confirm the actual postage costs for the buyer so they can proceed with the payment at checkout. Section 7 of this User Guide ('Book an eBay order for parcel delivery') explains how to do this.

7. BOOK PARCEL DELIVERY FOR EBAY ORDER

7.1 Providing postage price for buyer to complete payment at checkout

If the status of an eBay order in PowerSender shows the customer has Paid (green tick), then you can proceed to book the parcel delivery. To do this, please go to section 7.2 of this User Guide (Page 25) for instructions on booking the delivery.

This section of the User Guide explains how to provide a postage price for the customer at checkout when you list your item using either the Online Postage Calculator or 'Buyer to contact seller for postage'.

eBay customers cannot complete payment for their goods on eBay unless they know their Freight/postage charge. A customer will request a freight postage fee from you by clicking a link in the eBay Checkout – as shown in the red rectangle in the screenshot below.

The screenshot shows the eBay checkout page for a user named 'Jul Buyer'. At the top, a red banner states: "One or more of the items below can't be purchased because the seller has not specified freight postage fees. To continue checkout, see your options below." The page is titled "Checkout: Review order". On the left, the buyer's address is listed: "2 Moorebank Avenue, Moorebank New South Wales 2170, Australia, 04 33928014". In the center, there are payment options: "Pay with" (VISA, MasterCard, American Express) and "PayPal". On the right, the total is "AU $240.00" and a "Continue" button is visible. Below the payment options, there is a section for "Armani Watch" with a quantity of 1 and a price of "AU $120.00". Underneath, the "Freight" section shows "Est. delivery varies" and a red box highlights the text "Please contact the seller to request total for the freight postage fee." This same message appears for a second "Armani Watch" item. At the bottom, there is a "Redemption code" field and an "Apply" button. The final summary shows "Subtotal (2 items) AU $240.00", "Postage FREE", and "Total: AU $240.00".

There are 6 easy steps to calculate Freight/Postage fee and have it automatically update in eBay for the buyer to complete payment at checkout. These steps are as follows:

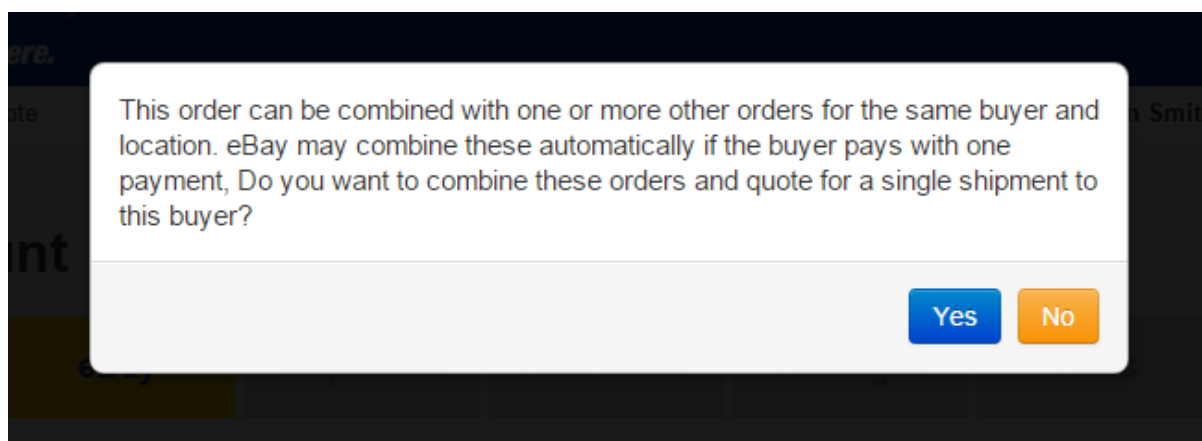

Step 1: The first step to provide the freight/postage fee is to click the info symbol corresponding to the chosen eBay order as shown in the red rectangle in the screen shot below.

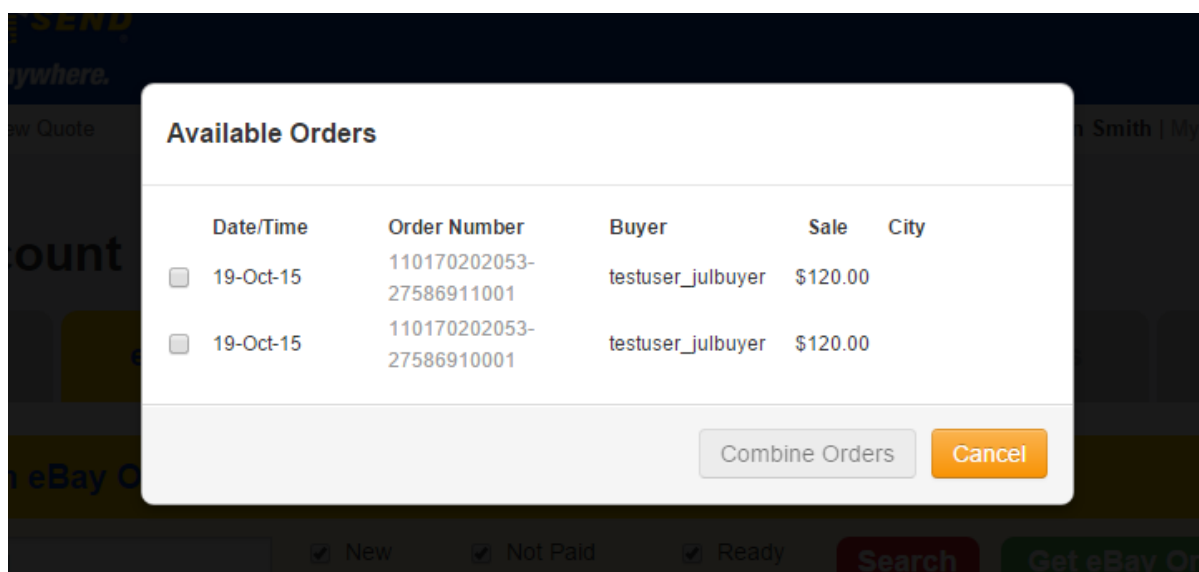

Step 2: After clicking on the info symbol, the details of the order will be shown as below. You should then click on green Quote button to quote this order and update the Freight cost in eBay.

Step 3: As soon as you click on green Quote button, a popup will appear asking you whether you wish to combine one or more orders that may exist from the same buyer and location. Please see the screen shot below.

If you click the Yes button, the following screen will be displayed. Select the orders you wish to combine and then click Combine Orders.

Step 4: The quote page will appear – showing your eBay Order Details to the right of the screen for your reference. Click on Calculate Quote. A range of Online Self-Service parcel delivery options will then be displayed with different transit times and prices. Select the parcel delivery service required for the eBay order.

16. ONLINE POSTAGE CALCULATOR

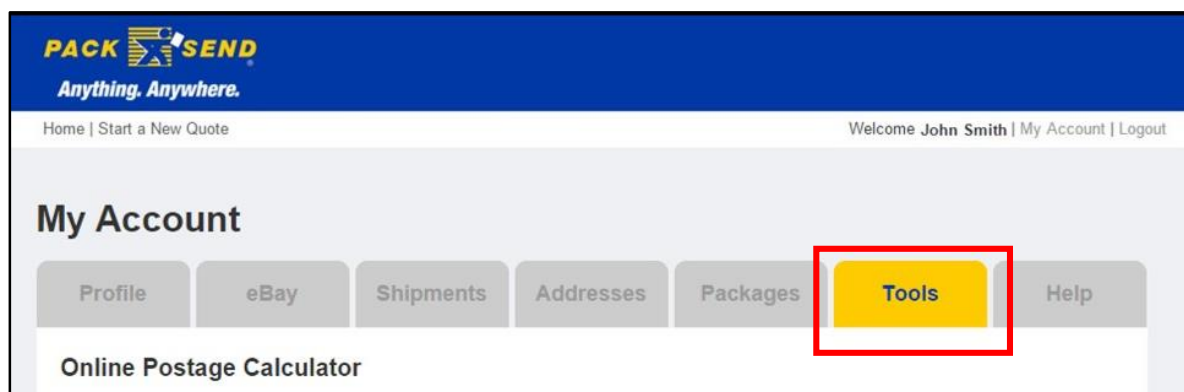

If you choose a 'Calculated postage' pricing strategy for your eBay store, you will be charging your customers a different shipping rate based on the buyers location. In other words, your shipping cost can vary from customer to customer.

To accommodate a variable pricing strategy, PACK & SEND offers an Online Postage Calculator for eBay listings. By using this calculator on your listing, your buyers simply need to enter their delivery postcode or suburb and they will then have displayed the range of parcel delivery price options.

Inserting PACK & SEND's Online Postage calculator in your eBay listing is easy - just follow the steps below.

Step 1: Click on Tools tab

Step 2: Enter Origin and Package details

Enter the location of where the parcel will be sent from. Then enter the dimensions and weight of the parcel, and the value of the item. It's important to specify the accurate weight and dimensions for the parcel (taking into account the weight of the item, box and any packing materials).

You can also automatically select the parcel details from package details already entered in PowerSender by clicking the Select From My Packages link, as shown in the red rectangle below.

A screenshot of the '1. Origin' and '2. Package' sections of the Online Postage Calculator. The '1. Origin' section has a dropdown menu for 'AUSTRALIA' and a text input field for 'PARRAMATTA, NSW 2150'. The '2. Package' section has a link 'Select From My Packages' highlighted with a red rectangle, followed by the text 'or enter details:'. Below this, there are five input fields: 'Length (cm)' with value '10', 'Width (cm)' with value '10', 'Height (cm)' with value '10', 'Weight (kg)' with value '10', and 'Value ($)' with value '100'.

When you click on the Select From My Packages link, the following screen will be displayed. You can then search for your package to be selected for the Online Postage Calculator.

Step 4: Select your Service Options

Our Online Postage Calculator has the option to list a range of Budget, Standard and Premium services with different transit times and prices for both domestic and overseas locations. You can choose to build a calculator to display one or more service options for your customers.

Select which services you would like to offer your customers.

4. Service Options: ?

☒ BUDGET Services ☐ Show Authority to Leave (ATL) Services ?

☒ STANDARD Services ☐ Show Warranty option where applicable ?

☒ PREMIUM Services

As part of our domestic delivery service options, you can choose whether to offer an Authority to Leave service (ATL). This is where the parcel can be left at your customers premises without obtaining a signature. No warranty is available on ATL services. To offer this option in your calculator select the check box Show Authority to Leave (ATL) Services – as shown in the above screenshot.

Your calculator can also show warranty options for both domestic and international services. We offer for all our 'signature on delivery' services the option of warranty cover against physical loss or damage while in transit. To offer this option, select the check box Show Warranty option where applicable – as shown in the above screenshot.

Step 5: Build, Test and Copy your calculator into your eBay listing

You should now click on the Build Calculator button as shown in the screen shot below. The calculator widget will appear below the build calculator button and you can play with the widget by entering different destinations and clicking "Calculate" button.

When you are pleased with your calculator, you can just Copy the HTML code by clicking the Copy To Clipboard button and insert it into the HTML of your listing/website. For more specific details on how to insert the calculator into your eBay listing, refer to page 15 of this User Guide.
